

Tell Us About YOU!

We do printing for all kinds of businesses, organizations, and professions – and every one of them is different from the others. The next time you place a printing order with us, tell us a little about your particular business. We want to learn as much as we can about you. The more familiar we are with the end uses of your printing, the better we are able to serve you with time and money saving ideas and suggestions. We want you to feel confident you'll be getting exactly what you want, and what will work for you. You can relax and know that you're dealing with a printer who cares about your individual needs, and wants to help you in any way possible.

Because we want to be your printer!

What Year Was It?

Eisenhower and Nixon are sworn in as President and Vice President - the first Republicans in 20 years; Sir Edmund Hilary scales Mt. Everest; From Here to Eternity wins the Academy Award as best picture of the year; Frank Sinatra is Oscar's best supporting actor after several years of almost total oblivion; Ben Hogan wins Masters, U.S. Open and British Open golf championships; New York Yankees win fifth consecutive World Series; a rocket powered U.S. plane is flown at more than 1660 m.p.h.; Doggie in the Window is a popular song; Joseph Stalin passes; possible connection reported between lung cancer and cigarette smoking.

The measure of success is not whether you have a tough problem to deal with, but whether it is the same problem that you had last year.
- John Foster Dulles

Word Whiz

putative

- unpleasant, intended as a deterrent
- uncommonly rare and valuable
- commonly accepted or supposed
- marked by moral degradation

HOT OFF THE PRESS

September

2007

Some years ago parents tried to teach their children the value of a dollar. Now they try to keep the bad news from the kids as long as possible.

Some people looking for more happiness are probably using only a small portion of the happiness that they already have.

Late night TV is very educational. It teaches us that we'd be better off going to bed earlier.

Acting on a good idea is better than just having a good idea.
- Robert Half

Words to Live By

Always do right. This will gratify some people, and astonish the rest.
- Mark Twain

“Open wide,” requested the dentist as he began examining a new patient. “Wow!” he said, “You’ve got the biggest cavity I’ve ever seen . . . the biggest cavity I’ve ever seen!”

“Well, you didn’t have to tell me twice,” said the patient. “I didn’t,” replied the dentist, “that was an echo.”

There was a man who turned down an opportunity to become a taxi driver. It seemed that he just couldn’t hack it.

It’s always best to make your goals realistic: just beyond your grasp, but within your reach.

People need the ability to fail. Too many organizations set up an environment where they do not permit their people to be wrong. You cannot innovate unless you are willing to accept some mistakes.

- Charles Knight

A vacation is that period of time off the job when you sometimes exchange good dollars for poor quarters.

Thomas Edison once said that success is only 10% inspiration and 90% perspiration. Should someone that sweaty really be handling electricity?

You should never invite termites over for dinner. They just may eat you out of house and home.

A sign posted on an office wall read, “You can — if you will.” Underneath, someone had scrawled, “And you’re canned — if you won’t.”

If a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, how many of us can really feel safe?

Monthly Parchment

Basic Rules of FINANCIAL SUCCESS

1. Make all the money you can.
2. Spend less than that.

Pictured above is a copy of this month's parchment we print for our friends. It is 8.5x11 and free for you to pick up during your next visit.

When each mistake you make is a new one, you’re still making progress.

A man discovered a big rat in his stove. He went for his gun, but couldn’t shoot the rat. By the time he got the gun, the rat was out of his range.

Did you hear about the newly developed bird species? It’s a cross between a carrier pigeon and a woodpecker. When it delivers a message to you, it knocks on your door.

Shouldn’t we feel bad for archaeologists? After all, their lives are in ruins.

We’d be happy to pay as we go, if we could only finish paying for where we’ve been.

The ability to tell lies differs among people. For example, a short-armed fisherman isn’t as big a liar as a long-armed one.

Did you hear about the librarian who was so strict that she made everyone practice whispering outside before she would allow them into the library?
